PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS: world-wide attention is focused on America, its citizens and its way of life, and

WHEREAS: recreation contributes fundamental values to our rich heritage of strength, adding rest, vigor and balance to our lives by providing opportunities of adventure, refreshment and relaxation, and

WHEREAS: since Americans have more leisure time that ever before, it is imperative that we learn to use this expanding time to best advantage so that we can help fulfill America's destiny by maintaining health, bodies, inquiring minds, and adventurous spirits through recreation, and

WHEREAS: our great state has such a wealth of exciting recreation opportunities and facilities that tourists come from many miles away to enjoy these resources,

NOW THEREFORE, I JOE FOSS, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim the month of June as

and urge all our citizens to partake of the wealth of our great state's recreation facilities, to make full use of their expanding leisure time by exploring the many exciting new adventures awaiting them, to make sure the citizens of tomorrow will have the necessary recreation facilities by supporting the recreation agencies in their community, and to observe the month by planning community, family and individual recreation activities in the American tradition.

Done this 13 day of May 1958
